New Banking System Coming

Our current banking system was introduced in 1994 and will no longer be supported in 2012. Our management completed a detailed review of the options available and, in mid-2008, your board approved the move to a new system, which will occur in September of 2009.

The move to a new banking system is an exciting one for many reasons—increased functionality, ease of use and improved member security features at the forefront of the perks. It’s also exciting because times and technology are changing and our banking system move shows that GVC is changing with it to ensure we are offering our members the best products and services available.

During the conversion weekend we will be doing everything we can to ensure that it has very little affect on our members, however there will be some changes that will be necessary and important to note. For example, there will be new sign-in procedures for online and phone banking as well as changes to your statements including a fresh, new look and different statement cut-off dates for certain accounts.

Further information on our banking system conversion will be mailed to members and made available on our website closer to the time of conversion. Please stay tuned for member communications and be sure to review any information that may be mailed to you to stay informed.

Warm Weather Brings Con Artists

Summer is here, so be careful of con artists who prey on homeowners, especially senior citizens during this time of year.

One common scheme involves resurfacing asphalt driveways. A male with an British accent representing Citylink Paving showed up to the Richmond area this past year promising to repave driveways at a reduced cost, as he had extra material and his staff was available. The representative even offered assurances of a guarantee for 10 years to help convince the homeowner.

It turns out that the work was substandard and fell apart after a few days and after trying to track down the company the homeowner found out the office listed on the invoice was a fake.

“These fly by night contractors typically target a community for only a few days and then move to another location leaving consumers out-of-pocket money and upset,” says BBB President and CEO Lynda Pasacreta. “Consumers need to be vigilant and not be taken in by low prices and guarantees.”

Before you give any money to anyone or allow them into your home, BBB suggests:

Get the name and location. Get the name and address of the company the vendor claims to represent and do your research. Check the business out at BBB.org.

Get it in writing. Ensure all details and verbal promises are included in a contract. Review it and make sure that you understand everything in the document. Never sign a contract with sections left blank.

Check for qualifications. Verify the individual is licensed, bonded, insured and has registered with WorkSafeBC (Workers’ Compensation Board).

Make cheques payable to the company. Do not pay in cash and do not make cheques payable to an individual, only the company.

Avoid "Bait and switch" tactics. Some disreputable companies will offer low prices for installing items like windows and home siding, but then come back later to the client saying the item is currently out of stock and can only be replaced with a high-priced substitute. Have everything in writing and know the terms in advance.

Remember to cool off if there’s pressure. Do not be pressured by any person if you are unsure. Take the time to do your due diligence. If you did sign and would like change your mind, BC law states that if it was a door-to-door sales contract then you have 10 days to advise the company.

Mission Statement

GVC Credit Union is a member-owned financial co-operative which was founded in 1940 by members joining together to help one another.

To offer savings and loan facilities oriented to the needs of individuals and families in Greater Vancouver.

To provide members with financial services at competitive rates and in such a manner as to be able to deal personally with each individual member.

To assist members in prudently managing their financial affairs by providing timely and appropriate financial information and personal loans and deposit counselling.

To offer other financial services if (in the opinion of the policy makers) they provide a member benefit.

GVC’s objective is to achieve the above while paying competitive dividends, providing good quality working conditions, salaries and benefits to employees, and earning sufficient surplus to provide for statutory reserves and other reserves as might be deemed prudent.
